

Co-operative Councils
Innovation Network

TRANSPORT

Glasgow City Council

First city in the UK to offer free parking for electric vehicles

Glasgow is serious about encouraging low carbon travel options. That's why it became the first and only city in the UK to announce in 2012 that parking for electric vehicles would be free. At the same time, the city has expanded its own network of free charging points on the street and at Council venues. The city's own car club is acknowledged to have one of the lowest carbon fleets in the UK and will add ten electric vehicles this year. Each of our car club vehicles is estimated to keep a further twelve cars off the city streets.

---

For further information contact:

Tracey Cunningham

Co-operative Development Unit – Glasgow City Council

Tracey.cunningham@glasgow.gov.uk | Tel: 0141 287 3687

People-centred councils driving social innovation putting people first

E: comms@councils.coop | T: @CoopInnovation | W: councils.coop